

How To Recognize The Greatest Coach In The World

The greatest coach in the world is the one:

Who loves his sport and coaching so much that he can't wait for practice every day.

Whose teaching methods and enthusiasm are such that he inspires his players to practice on their own, and in their free time, the skills he teaches them at daily practices.

Who genuinely cares about his players both personally and professionally - and lets them know it.

Who creates such a closely knit team that his players love each other as a second family, and as a result they feel a genuine sense of responsibility to their teammates and him in their athletic performances.

"Nothing is really work unless you would rather be doing something else." James M. Barrie
